Supporting the Intellectual Property Legal Community

About AIPLA

The American Intellectual Property Law Association (AIPLA) is a national bar association constituted primarily of lawyers in private and corporate practice, in government service, and in the academic community, with approximately 15,000 members. AIPLA represents a wide and diverse spectrum of individuals, companies and institutions involved directly or indirectly in the practice of patent, trademark, copyright, and unfair competition law, as well as other fields of law affecting intellectual property. Our members represent both owners and users of intellectual property.

About AIPLA New Lawyers Committee

The committee focuses on members in their first ten years of practice, providing educational and networking opportunities to new lawyers in the association through the stated meetings and receptions. In addition, the committee serves as a central resource to communicate with other committee chairs and members of AIPLA's Board to provide new lawyers opportunities to become more involved in the association. New Lawyers Committee members are active participants in planning substantive programs for the stated meetings, co-authoring CLE papers with speakers, including corporate counsel, judging and administering the Giles Rich Moot Court Competition and the Watson Writing Competition, and assisting substantive committees with a variety of activities, including research and writing projects, committee meeting planning and implementation, developing educational materials, and managing committee microsities.

Your support of the 4th Annual AIPLA New Lawyers Committee Summer Retreat will help cover the costs for the Friday night networking event at Sens and the Saturday night dinner at R&G lounge. It is a great way to foster relationships with new AIPLA members, help them advance in their career, as well as prepare them for leadership positions.

In appreciation of your support, your logo will be included on all marketing materials related to the Summer Retreat, which will be posted on the AIPLA website, Facebook, and LinkedIn. There will also be recognition at the networking events.
